Energy efficiency rating for appliances

First introduced over 20 years ago, energy labels awarded products with an A for high efficiency or an F for low efficiency, encouraging manufacturers to develop more energy-efficient technologies. As products became more efficient, labels of A+, A++ and A+++ were added.

In recent years, the EU agreed to clearer energy efficiency labelling rules, so moved from the current scale to an A to G energy scale. These symbols tell you how energy-efficient each appliance is, with 'A' being the most efficient and 'G' being the least.

The new regulations apply across all European member states and Northern Ireland, and Great Britain have implemented similar requirements. These updated labels have been visible in stores and online since 1 March 2021. A new element in these labels is a QR code, which provides additional information.

Hobs

Hob types explained

Ceramic

Fitted with a durable and heat-resistant ceramic glass surface, these hobs use electric heating elements to quickly heat up the different cooking zones.

Gas

Gas hobs are energy efficient, quick to heat up and easy to control, making them a popular choice for both professional cooks and everyday kitchens.

Induction

Instead of heating up the hob surface, induction hobs only heat up your pans, ensuring quick, energy-efficient and incredibly safe cooking. These hobs require pans with a magnetisable base.

Hob-to-hood connection

Our GoodHome hobs feature hob-to-hood connection that automatically controls the extraction rate of GoodHome hoods.

Ceramic hobs

With a heat-resistant ceramic glass surface, these durable hobs are practical and easy to clean.

Hoods

Do I need a recirculating or vented hood?

Recirculating hoods

The air is passed through a grease filter to remove the grease and the odours are absorbed using a carbon filter.

Benefit – easy installation and the hood can be placed anywhere.

Vented hoods

Vapours are passed through a grease filter to remove the grease and the filtered air is conveyed to the outside via ducting and a wall vent.

Benefit – high air flow rate and the hood does not require a carbon filter.

What size should a cooker hood be?

Your cooker hood should be either equal to or bigger than the width of the hob.

We're unable to deliver online orders from diy.ie outside of the Republic of Ireland. Bulk delivery is currently only available in Dublin and the surrounding area, see diy.ie/customer-support/delivery for list of areas. Bulk products will be delivered to the kerbside outside of your address. You'll be advised at the checkout if this is the case, and you'll be responsible for moving these items onto your property.

Can B&Q let me know the time of my delivery?

Some of our delivery partners may contact you in advance by phone or by text message and may let you know either an estimated arrival time or confirm an am/pm delivery slot. If this applies to your order, we'll let you know in your confirmation email.

When will my home delivery order arrive?

For the majority of products on diy.ie, we'll be able to advise of your delivery date in your order confirmation email. For all other products, we'll let you know that we'll be in touch by phone or text message to arrange a delivery date. Deliveries may be made between 8am and 6pm.

When can I collect my Click + Collect order?

Once you've placed your order we'll tell you what time your order will be available to collect from.

Find out more about when your order will be ready for collection on our Click + Collect page on diy.ie/customer-support/click-collect

If you don't collect your order straightaway, we'll hold it in store for you for 7 days. If it's not been collected after 7 days, we'll automatically return it and process a refund.

Where do I collect my Click + Collect order from?

Your Click + Collect order will be available at the Click + Collect point in your chosen store. Look for the Click + Collect signs in the checkout area.
