Make the most of your space

Some things are standard in every bathroom: toilets, basins, a home for towels and the spaces in-between. These planning tips will help you maximise space and minimise everyday stress.

Space-saving tips

Mirrors

All mirrors and rooms are different, but the optimum height to hang a mirror is between 152 and 183cm from the floor.

Toilets

Keep at least 20cm of free space either side of your toilet and roughly 40cm at the front.

Space to move

Leave a minimum of 70cm of space between your basin and bath or shower edge.

Keep towels close by

To keep towels within reach, a radiator or wall hooks placed about 80cm from your bath or shower is ideal.

Drying and dressing

Where possible, have a metre squared space between your shower and basin.

Basins

Place your basin at a comfortable height from the floor. Our basin units have adjustable feet so you can tailor yours to suit.

Remember

When you're ready to design your bathroom, book a free planning appointment at diy.com/roiplanningappointment

Measure the length, width and height of your room, noting any pipework that's boxed in or under the floor and marking doors and obstacles.

Basins

Whether you need a basin for a busy family bathroom or tiny cloakroom, find one that suits your style and makes your daily routine a little easier.

Semi recessed basins

Sitting half-in, half-out, a semi recessed basin is classic and practical.

Countertop basins

These basins sit directly on the worktop or vanity unit, perfect for contemporary bathrooms.

Cloakroom basins

Not solely for cloakrooms, these small basins are space-savers in tiny bathrooms.

Full pedestal basins

Tried and tested, a pedestal basin is a forever favourite. The column supports the basin and hides any unsightly pipework.

Remember

Basins with only one tap hole will require a mixer tap, whereas countertop basins without tap holes need to be paired with either wall-mounted or tall taps.

Semi recessed basins

A semi recessed basin is a classic choice that also provides ample countertop space.

THE ULTIMATE IN DESIGN FREEDOM

IN THE BATHROOM OF THE FUTURE,
THE BEST TECHNOLOGY STAYS
BEHIND THE SCENES.

There are two main categories of toilets: wall hung toilets and floor standing toilets. Wall hung toilets are mounted on the wall, with the cistern concealed inside the wall and just the bowl protruding, whereas standard toilets are mounted to the floor.

In the bathroom, space and hygiene are the most valuable commodities, and GROHE's high-tech bathroom solutions are proof that even small items can have a big impact.

Grohe won RED DOT[†] sanitary brand of the year in 2019, dedicated to providing innovative water products.

Baths

Freestanding baths

If you have room for one, a freestanding bath can be a real centrepiece in a bathroom. There's something quite indulgent about dissolving into the bubbles of a standalone tub.

Corner baths

Corner baths can be tucked neatly into corners if you're lacking on wall space. They still provide lots of room so there's no compromise on comfort.

Straight baths

The most popular bath shape – it'll fit in the most compact of spaces. Available in both double and single-ended options and in a range of traditional and contemporary styles.

Shower baths

A popular pick, shower baths cleverly provide the relaxation of a soak in the tub with the more practical side of a quick shower. Find L and P shapes to suit your space.

Accessible baths

These baths are designed with a low profile and anti-slip base. The easy-access door makes it a practical choice for those with limited mobility.

Remember

Upgrade to Supercast for a hotter bath every time. Find out more on page 92.

Shower baths

These come in L and P shapes, providing a large showering area as well as generous bathing space.

Taps

Taps may seem like small details in a bathroom, but they can really switch up the overall look of a basin or bath. From traditional to contemporary, choose a design that maximises the potential flow rate of your water system and looks great while doing so.

Basin mixer

This compact design mixes hot and cold water. Available with a normal aerator, blade stream, shower-effect or waterfall spout.

Basin taps

Pillar tap pairs have a classic look and feel, but are now designed in more modern shapes too. They give you excellent control of achieving your desired water temperature.

Bath taps

From modern filler taps to more traditional pillar pairs, bath taps can be a stylish statement as well as a finishing touch to your tub.

Bath mixer

An elegant and popular choice, bath mixer taps require two tap holes for the hot and cold handles, which then mix in the middle at the spout.

Bath shower mixer

Enjoy the versatility of a traditional bath tap alongside a shower handset. Perfect if you're limited on space.

Remember

A tap aerator adds oxygen to the flow, increasing the pressure and reducing the amount of water you need to use. This nifty attachment simply fits into the tap to help save water and save you money.

Showers

A shower is a pick-me-up in the morning and washes away the little stresses come evening. Find one that boosts the overall look of your space and provides the best showering experience.

Electric showers

An electric shower connects to the cold water supply which is then warmed up by an internal heating element as water passes through. Provides instant hot water on demand.

Power showers

A power shower has a built-in electric pump to boost the flow rate. Ideal for low pressure systems.

Manual mixer showers

A manual mixer shower connects to the hot and cold water supplies and then mixes the water to your selected temperature. Delivers a higher flow rate than an electric shower.

Thermostatic showers

A thermostatic mixer shower offers a consistent showering temperature, even when a tap is on elsewhere in your home.

Remember

Before choosing a shower, understanding your water system is key. If you have limited hot water supply, electric showers are suitable, whereas mixer showers are compatible with high pressure systems.

Shower enclosures

There are many shower solutions to choose from, but understanding where your shower is going to go first will really help with your decision. Make sure you consider the space needed for the door opening, as well as features like towel rails or any existing pipes, lighting and vents.

Quadrant

Great for smaller bathrooms. The curved corner style works with most bathroom designs and doesn't compromise on showering room either.

Square

Modern and stylish, a square enclosure fits into most bathrooms and has more choice when it comes to doors and frames.

Rectangular

If you have more space to play with, a rectangular-shaped enclosure offers more showering room and is more of a statement choice.

Walk-in

Walk-in showers are simple, luxurious and undeniably practical. Unlike conventional styles, they have no runners or hinges to trap dirt and grime.

Towel warmers

Add warmth and luxury to your bathroom space with a towel warmer. Choose from electric or plumbed.

Electric towel warmers

An electric towel warmer doesn't run off the central heating, so you can have that single radiator running on its own.

Plumbed towel warmers

These models are heated by the central heating system, so will dry towels while keeping the room warm. They won't operate if the heating is switched off.

Calculating your power requirements

To calculate the power required for your towel warmer, count 125W for every m² in your bathroom (assuming a ceiling height of 2.5m – adjust accordingly if it is higher than this). Also, consider the amount of people in your home when deciding the size of your warmer.

Bathroom lighting

Bathroom lighting should transform a bleak room into a relaxing sanctuary, but it should also be safe to use in a wet environment. That's why there are regulations which require all bathroom lighting adheres to certain IP (Ingress Protection) ratings.

A bathroom is made up of different zones so the distance from the water source will determine the type of lighting allowed.

Lighting zones explained

Zone 0

IP67 Inside the bath or shower. Must be IP67 rated.

Zone 1

IP65 The area above the bath or shower to a height of 2.25m from the floor. Must be a minimum of IP44 rated or (IP45 if exposed to water jets). IP65 rating is recommended.

Zone 2

IP44 The area 0.6m outside the perimeter of the bath and to a height of 2.25m from the floor. Must be a minimum of IP44 rated.

Other zones

IP20 Anywhere outside zones 0, 1 and 2 there are no special IP requirements, however, it's recommended any light fittings in other areas should have a rating of at least IP20.

A 30mA RCD must be used. All new and modified electrical installations must comply with the latest IET Wiring Regulations (BS7671) and bathroom lighting products must be installed in accordance with local Building Regulations.

If you are in any doubt, contact a qualified electrician.

GoodHome is our product brand. It is a seal of quality, innovation and excellence and a number of existing products branded Cooke & Lewis have garnered great customer feedback and passed all our assessment criteria. They have therefore won the right to move under the GoodHome brand but are still being supplied under their original Cooke & Lewis packaging for a short period because true to our sustainable ambition, we do not believe in throwing away perfectly good packaging.
