Our kitchen ranges

GoodHome

We believe a kitchen should be designed to make everyday activities as easy as possible. When planning yours, think about how you'll use the space and the items in it – this will shape where you place your cabinets and store food and utensils. Pick up our product and cabinetry guide or visit your local store for the full range.

1 Prepare

Make room for key utensils and ingredients near your food prep area so that they're within easy reach. Consider accessible wall mounted storage to free up precious worktop space too.

Design tips:

- Try and have at least one 90cm section of free worktop space
- Position sockets where you'll use tools and appliances
- Task lighting is ideal for cooking areas, whereas softer lighting sets the mood for dining areas.

2 Cook

Choose appliances that suit your cooking style. Look out for clever designs that do the work for you, such as auto-heating and self-cleaning ovens and hobs with a quick boil 'boost' function.

Design tip:

- We recommend a 30-40cm space either side of your hob or oven to place hot pans and trays.

3 Store

Mix up your cabinets to maximise your space – drawers and pull-out storage will make those hard-to-reach items much easier to find.

Design tip:

- Research shows that seven is the magic number when it comes to drawers. This should neatly store the average amount of kitchen items.

4 Clean

Cooking and cleaning go hand in hand, so go for surfaces and accessories that are easy to wipe down after use. Removable shelves and stain-resistant worktops will help keep your kitchen looking its best.

Design tip:

- A 100cm space around your sink should give you plenty of room for washing and drying.

Prep & plan your space

This is a chance to consider your must-haves, from the appliances that will make life in the kitchen easier to the amount of storage space you really want. Read our steps on how to all-importantly prep your space.

1

Imagine & plan

Before choosing your kitchen, it's a great idea to imagine how you're going to be using it. Will it be used just for cooking or is there a dining area? Consider any concerns in your current kitchen that can be resolved with some forward thinking. Are you wanting to create a space to kickstart your morning with the family or somewhere to entertain late into the night? Add a breakfast bar or island to make it a social hub in the home.

Remember to consider your appliances too. Kitchens are one of the biggest sources of water and energy use in the home, so look for ones that work efficiently to save you pennies and care for the planet. Think about if you need additional sockets and where you'll use these.

Once you've imagined your new space and taken measurements, book a planning appointment with our team in store to get your project up and running.

2 Prep & refresh

A new project is a great excuse to declutter – our storage boxes are super useful to keep things organised while you're busy at work. Start by removing old units, disconnecting your power and water supplies and painting or freshening up walls, ceilings and any trims. If you're laying new flooring, it's worth doing this before fitting your new kitchen too. Cover any doorways and existing appliances with protective sheets to keep dust and debris to a minimum. Now you're ready to fit your cabinets!

3 Brighten & focus

When planning lighting, consider installing a flexible system so you can regulate areas of your kitchen independently. To create a clean, minimalistic look, choose recessed downlights and spotlights. Illuminating worktops with kitchen counter and cabinet lighting are great for cooking. Linear tube bulbs can make a noticeable difference – opt for LED bulbs which immediately reach full brightness, are energy efficient and cost effective. Suspend statement pendant lighting over tables, breakfast bars and islands to really light up gatherings and intimate dinners.

Keep your worktop looking good as new, by always using a chopping board and never placing hot pots directly onto the surface. Treat solid wood surfaces regularly with oil (three to four times a year) and re-seal granite worktops once every five years.
