

Marmox Decotray

Level access synthetic stone shower tray with slip resistant surface

Marmox Decotray shower trays provide an attractive feature point to any wetroom. It is a floor level sloping shower tray which sits flush with the surrounding floor* creating an open, step-free showering area.

Decotray is constructed from Marmoxite, a patented resin bound synthetic stone moulded into one of two natural stone effects: Slate Grey and Polar White.

The trays are supplied with a compact drain kit comprising of an attractive brushed stainless steel grate which connects to a high flow rate gully with a 50mm water seal (to ensure smells from the drain cannot escape).

The drain is also adjustable to make the outlet pipe horizontal, vertical or any angle in between.

*Marmox Decotray can be used with Marmox Plinth to create a raised platform if required.

Sizes, colours and surfaces

There are two versions available, both with a stone textured slip resistant surface.

Slate Grey

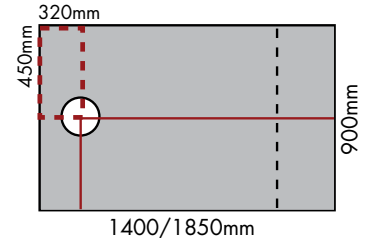

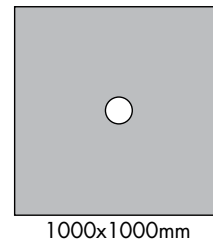

Polar White

Marmox Stone Trays have a slope with a fall to the drain of at least 2%. They are 30mm thick around the perimeter. They are available in the following sizes.

Length (mm)	Width (mm)	Thickness (mm)	Drain location	Weight (kg)
1000	1000	30	centre	20
1400	900	30	offset	25
1850	900	30	offset	35

The Decotray shower tray is supplied with an overlapping waterproof fleece attached to the back which, when sealed to the surrounding floor and walls, creates a completely waterproof barrier.

The tray's concealed edges can be cut to size if required.

Use Marmox Multiboard adjacent to the tray for a guaranteed waterproof system.
