Energy efficiency rating for appliances

First introduced over 20 years ago, energy labels awarded products with an A for high efficiency or an F for low efficiency, encouraging manufacturers to develop more energy-efficient technologies. As products became more efficient, labels of A+, A++ and A+++ were added.

In recent years, the EU agreed to clearer energy efficiency labelling rules, so moved from the current scale to an A to G energy scale. These symbols tell you how energy-efficient each appliance is, with 'A' being the most efficient and 'G' being the least.

The new regulations apply across all European member states and Northern Ireland, and Great Britain have implemented similar requirements. These updated labels have been visible in stores and online since 1 March 2021. A new element in these labels is a QR code, which provides additional information.

Old labels

Current labels (from 1 March 2021)

Hobs

Hob types explained

Ceramic

Fitted with a durable and heat-resistant ceramic glass surface, these hobs use electric heating elements to quickly heat up the different cooking zones.

Induction

Instead of heating up the hob surface, induction hobs only heat up your pans, ensuring quick, energy-efficient and incredibly safe cooking. These hobs require pans with a magnetisable base.

Gas

Gas hobs are energy efficient, quick to heat up and easy to control, making them a popular choice for both professional cooks and everyday kitchens.

Hob-to-hood connection

Our GoodHome hobs feature hob-to-hood connection that automatically controls the extraction rate of GoodHome hoods.

Ceramic hobs

Induction hobs

These hobs rapidly heat using induction technology, heating the pan rather than the surface. They require pans with a magnetisable base, such as iron or stainless steel.

Hoods

Do I need a recirculating or vented hood?

Recirculating hoods

The air is passed through a grease filter to remove the grease and the odours are absorbed using a carbon filter.

Benefit – easy installation and the hood can be placed anywhere.

Vented hoods

Vapours are passed through a grease filter to remove the grease and the filtered air is conveyed to the outside via ducting and a wall vent.

Benefit – high airflow rate and the hood does not require a carbon filter.

What size should a cooker hood be?

Your cooker hood should be either equal to or bigger than the width of the hob.

Built-in tumble dryers

Features explained

Condensing

Condenser tumble dryers store water in a container and can be placed anywhere in your home.

Heat pump

Heat pump tumble dryers gather water in a tank like a condenser dryer, but recycle the hot air inside the drum. This contributes towards lower energy consumption.
